Rear Section of U. S. Relief Column Ambushed By Communist Unit

FIGHTING IS VIOLENT Battles Raging in Three Areas Along Nakdong River

International News Service
TOKYO, Aug. 11—(INS)—The port of Pohang on Korea's east coast was captured today by Communist forces which drove beyond the flaming city to strike at a nearby key airfield defended by American troops.

TOKYO, Aug. 11—(INS)—The rear section of a U. S. relief column was ambushed today by Communist units that entered Pohang and thrust within a mile and a half of an American airfield outside that East Korean port.

At the opposite end of the curving front, U. S. Marine and Army troops ground westward along Korea's southern rim against counter-attacking Red forces defending the enemy's anchor base of Chinnju. American units were within six miles east of the city.

All five major sectors of the Korean war theater erupted with violent fighting.

In addition to the actions along the eastern and southern coastal corridors, battle were raging in three areas along the big bend of the Nakdong River.

Northeast of the Chinnju sector, U. S. 24th division troops were striving to prevent augmented North Korean forces from deepening a bridgehead on the lower Nakdong's east bank at Pungong-Ni, 26 miles southwest of Taegu.

Farther north, U. S. First Cavalry Division counter-attacks erased an enemy bridgehead just south of Waegwan and South Korean troops virtually eliminated still another

Meteor Shower Scheduled During This Week-End

For the first time in three years the moon will not be present to dim the light of the Perseid meteors which are due tonight and tomorrow night. This year, says Dr. I. M. Levitt, director of Fels Planetarium at The Franklin Institute, Phila., the moon will be new on August 13 so that it will not give off light during the time of the meteor shower.

Every year, just before the middle of August, the earth, in its path around the sun, crosses the path of the Perseids. They are so named because they come from the constellation of Perseus and they may be seen shooting out of the northeast. Because of the forward motion of the earth in its path around the sun more meteors will be swept up and seen after midnight. At times in the past as many as 120 meteors per hour have been seen.

Observers watching the northeast will see flashes of light of varying brightness, some as brilliant as the brightest star in the sky while others will be barely visible to the naked eye. Each flash indicates that a tiny stone is burning itself out as it plunges through the atmosphere. It is consumed by the tremendous heat caused by friction of its passage through the air at about 35 miles per second.

CIRCUS ROLLS INTO TOWN EARLY TODAY

Elephants, Bears, Monkeys and Other Animals Awake Bright and Early

TO GIVE TWO SHOWS

The circus rolled into town this morning as 63 vehicles, 140 performers, elephants, bears, monkeys, seals, llamas, zebras and camels arrived to transform Silver Lake field into a canvas-covered circus playground.

The gaily-painted trucks of the Hunt Bros.-Eddy Bros. Combined Circus began arriving shortly after seven, and soon roustabouts were driving stakes into the ground for the big top. Elephant grunts awoke some of the residents along Bath road as the huge pachyderms strained to pull the canvas up and over the tent poles. By noon the 250x100 foot tent was up and ready.

AMERICAN LEGION WAS AMONG FIRST TO WARN AGAINST THE DANGEROUS COURSE BEING FOLLOWED, SAYS U. S. SENATOR EDW. MARTIN

PHILA., Aug. 11—At a session of the American Legion convention here this morning, U. S. Senator Edward Martin, of Penna., addressing the group spoke as follows:

It is always an inspiration to attend the meetings of the American Legion.

Since it was organized in Paris 31 years ago, the Legion has worked ceaselessly to spread the gospel of real Americanism.

Not only has the Legion preached patriotism and loyalty to the flag, but it has exerted all its powerful influence toward building American strength as a bulwark of peace and freedom in the world.

Through all its existence the American Legion has been guided by the sacred principles formulated here in the City of Philadelphia 174 years ago.

Grave problems confronted the Founding Fathers when they met in the Old State House to establish a new Nation.

They had no thought of personal safety when they defied the armed might of the British Empire.

They knew that the struggle for American liberty would be long and perilous.

They knew that victory would not be achieved without blood, suffering and sacrifice.

But they faced the future with faith, confidence and courage. In signing the Declaration of Independence they proclaimed their "firm reliance in the protection of Divine Providence" and pledged to each other "our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor."

We of the American Legion meet here today in the shadow of Independence Hall. We meet at a time when the United States faces problems just as grave as those of 1776.

Joint Board Organizes by Electing Norman Roberts as President; Agreement Will Be Effective for a Period of 30 Years—County Superintendent Present and Explains Advantages of The Merger.

Bristol Township and Tullytown Borough school boards met last evening in the Bristol Township junior high school on Rogers road and formed a joint school board which will be known as the Delhaas Joint School Board. The contract was unanimously approved by both boards on the first ballot, and will be for 30 years.

Members of the Bristol Township School Board present were: John L. Allman, acting as president; William Clifton, William D. Knight, Russell Straub, William Vetter, and Clarence H. Young, secretary. Members present from the Tullytown board were: Norman Roberts, president; William B. Parr, secretary, Russell T. Firth and William Heidrick.

The officers of the joint board will serve for one year, alternating between the two boards. The officers elected are: President, Norman Roberts, Tullytown; vice-president, Russell Straub, Bristol Township; treasurer, William Clifton; secretary, elected for four years, Clarence H. Young.

It was agreed in the contract that the joint board will have a president, vice-president, treasurer and a secretary. The secretary's term of office will be for four years; all the other officers will be for a term of one year and an officer cannot succeed himself. The office of president will alternate each year between the two boards. The vice-president must be from a different board than the president, and the same way with the office of treasurer. Which makes the vice-president and treasurer both come from the same board. The office of secretary being elected for four years will change so that each board will have the office of secretary every four years.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan
(Distributed by International News Service)

Well you've got to give this much to Malik . . . Communist China is having its biggest flood in years and he hasn't tried to pin it on us.

Thousands are homeless but Malik hasn't once hinted that we flew a reservoir over and let it drop behind the lines.

But when he gets to it probably he will point out that it wouldn't have happened if red China had a delegate in the security council.

Meanwhile we are entertaining the protest of the puppet government of North Korea which is apparently directed against the use of live ammunition pointed north.

As we understand it, a number of North Korean peasants who decided to tour Southern Korea were rudely intercepted and shot at just because they happened to be riding in tanks.

The claim is that not only have the North Koreans been put to considerable annoyance and delay but some have been hurt.

If they want damages they'll just have to wait . . . our practice is to never support an enemy until we've beaten him. It's time enough then for him to go on our relief lists.

SQUIRRELS AND BOARDERS

Stories are being told about the people who are cashing in their U. S. savings bonds to buy goods they think are going to be scarce.
The Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia says the redemption of bonds jumped 11 per cent last month. The extra selling came near equaling the buying of new bonds in the "Independence" drive.

Here is something truly shocking. This goes far beyond any case that can be made to justify hoarding, as something squirrels do against a time of scarcity. The squirrel comparison is no good anyway. In nut-gathering time there are plenty of nuts to last all the squirrels all winter. The storing of nuts is not a matter of competition for goods in short supply, but strictly a provident act of setting up a savings account by doing some honest work.

People who have stored away government bonds have bought security for themselves while supporting their favorite way of life.
When they sell these bonds and stock up on goods they are not only depriving other people of a share—but they are also weakening the structure they live in. No sensible squirrel would want his house to fall down, would he?
No, squirrels are not boarders in the present sense. Squirrels are provident little creatures. Persons who jeopardize their own future as well as America's by selling savings bonds for hoarding purposes just don't show any resemblance to squirrels.

PRACTICAL RELIGION

Citizens of Perry, Oklahoma have been given demonstration of practical religion which has left a deep impression on the community. Rev. Jack Wilkes has served as pastor of the Methodist church there for several years, and on the occasion of his transfer to a larger city the Perry Journal recounts some of his achievements while serving the local congregation.

The Journal says he will be remembered there for a long time as the man who got a lot of "wayward males" inside a church. Not that they were sinners, but men who had just neglected to do their worshipping in a church.

Generally known and addressed as Brother Jack, he organized a "Fisherman's class" in Sunday school, the chief attraction of which was his intelligent and understandable talks on the Bible.
He discredited the idea that Sunday school was just a place for juveniles, and soon had his class full of the city's outstanding males, who also remained for the regular service of worship. "He has built the church on a solid rock," the Journal declares, "and the benefits of his endeavors will be reaped here for years to come."

Brother Jack Wilkes is typical of an increasing number of men in the ministry of all denominations who are forwarding the cause of religion through similar methods.

American Legion Was First To Warn of Dangerous Course Being Followed

Legion demanded that we be prepared to meet any threat from Fascism or Communism or any other alien philosophy which sought to destroy freedom.

The Legion advocated that we build up our Army into the most powerful striking force in the world, that we strengthen our Navy on every ocean and that we give our air force complete superiority over that of any potential enemy.

The Legion sought support for Universal Military Training so that Uncle Sam would have a reservoir of men ready for service in any emergency.

The Legion advocated industrial preparation so that when necessary the tremendous productive capacity of the United States could be converted immediately to war production.

The Legion demanded that every Red and every fellow traveler be removed from positions in the government where many held places of trust and importance.

If your plan of an adequate national defense and 100 per cent Americanism had been heeded there might have been no Pearl Harbor and no South Korea.

The Legion program for national defense was not popular but it had my complete support. Back in May of 1947 I had the honor of addressing the National Convention of the Legion in Indianapolis.

In my speech I said and I quote:
"While war with Russia may not be imminent we must be ready for any eventuality—strong, alert and united at home. We've got to keep America a powerful enemy and a powerful friend abroad."

"Our national defense must be based upon the ideals of a Republic. That means equal obligation as well as equal rights for every citizen. In the kind of world we live in today, in which things happen swiftly, equal obligation means to me—Universal Military Training.

That is the only way to be ready on time when an emergency occurs.
"I stand for, and I know the American Legion stands for, a highly trained regular Army, backed by a well organized, properly trained civilian reserve."

"We should have the best and strongest Navy and the best and strongest air force we can conceive."

"We had them in the recent war.
Only fools would think of surrendering them now."

"No matter how hard we hope and pray, this world and this Nation have not yet finished with conflict for all time."

"Until the aggressor nations agree to lay down their arms and prove they want to live at peace with us, let us keep our muscles hard."

"An America gone soft and flab-by is an America inviting attack.
"Behind the front line of steel and fire we must keep our industry, our labor and our agriculture ready." (End of quotation)

But we failed to keep our muscles hard. And today we are paying the price of our unpreparedness with the lives of American boys who are fighting against heavy odds in far off Korea.

Why do we find ourselves in this critical situation?

Why are we faced today with nearly all of Asia and a large part of Europe under Communist domination?

Let me tell you why. It is because we sold out one country after another—at Tehran, Yalta and Potsdam—in the hope of appeasing Joe Stalin.

Because our leaders threw in the ash-can the recommendations and the warnings of General Pat Hurley, General Wedemeyer, and other real Americans, and followed the advice of fuzzy-minded pro-Communists in the State Department like Alger Hiss.

Because the Truman-Acheson policy in the Far East was responsible for one blunder after another.

Because our government announced publicly that we would not defend South Korea or Formosa, giving the Communists a formal invitation to take a free ride.

Then, when President Truman suddenly reversed that policy, we found ourselves outnumbered and out-gunned in Korea, completely unprepared to stop the Communist trained and equipped North Korean divisions.

It was shocking to learn that of the 99 billion dollars appropriated by Congress for defense during the last five years only 9 billions were spent for new aircraft, ships, tanks and other weapons.

That figure and the developments in Korea make it perfectly clear that we are totally unprepared now to meet a formidable foe.

It was estimated recently by Winston Churchill that Russia today has 175 active divisions and that within a few months she could put 300 divisions in the field. Of the active divisions one-third are mechanized or armored.

What do we have to match that strength?

If the Communists should strike tomorrow in Western Europe, using half of their divisions, the defending forces of the United States, England, France and Belgium combined would number only 12 divisions, of which only two are armored.

Well, my comrades, the big question now is—what are we going to do about it?

I can't answer that question because Washington today is a bedlam of political confusion. The Administration in control apparently has no definite plan of action. There is delay, hesitation, and pussyfooting at a time when decisions of paramount importance must be made.

Playing for political advantage, whether by Democrats or Republicans, is too dangerous when the safety and welfare of the American people are at stake.

Politics should have no part in the defense of the United States.

The American people should be told now that the present situation calls for immediate and complete mobilization of all our forces, military, labor, industrial, agricultural, financial and spiritual.

We must arm to the hilt—now—because this time there will be no one to hold off the enemy while we get ready as our Allies did in World War I and World War II.

We must do everything possible to stabilize our economy and to prevent inflation.

This calls for rigid control of materials needed for war production.

It calls for immediate freezing of prices and wages to prevent a race between earning and the cost of living. Price control cannot be effective without wage control.

All government spending not connected with national defense must be cut to the bone.

The American people should be told, completely and honestly, the dangers that may be encountered on the road ahead.

They should be told, fully and fairly, the sacrifices they may be called upon to make if we are involved in total war.

They should be told about the sharply increased burden of taxation they will be called upon to assume to pay the cost of our nation's defense.

The people should be given this information now. It should not be delayed until after the November election.

When the American people are honestly informed they can be trusted to make whatever sacrifices may be necessary, willingly and patriotically.

If we are to retain our freedom as we Americans know it, we must pay for the cost of this war as nearly as possible out of current revenues.

When our comrades are giving their lives in battle no patriotic American should be thinking in terms of increased profits, bigger dividends or higher wages.

We have come to a time when everyone of us should be willing to push all his chips into the game.
All that counts is victory.

During World War II we observed how certain selfish and unpatriotic men enriched themselves by profiteering and in black market operations.

There was tax dodging, price gouging, hoarding, artificial scarcities and other illicit practices which sabotaged the war effort.

Some became millionaires overnight, so to speak, at the expense of their fellow citizens while the flower of American youth gave their lives for their country on foreign soil.

This time it must not happen. I will not happen if an aroused public puts patriotism first and cooperates to prevent such dastardly practices.

Those who take advantage of war for their own personal enrichment while their fellow Americans endure the hardships and tragedies of war, deserve the contempt of every real American. They belong behind prison bars. They are traitors to their country.

While we are preparing to defend freedom in the world against Communist aggression overseas, let us not relax our vigilance against the spread of Communism at home.

Every enrolled Communist is an enemy of the United States. They advocate the overthrow of our government by force. They are traitors to the country which has given them freedom, opportunity and protection.

Steps should be taken to revoke the citizenship of those who have been naturalized and they should be deported. All native born Communists should be placed where they can do no damage to our American institutions.

There is no group in the United States with such an important part to play in this crisis as the American Legion.

We may have a hard road to travel. But Americans in every generation have endured defeats and hardship to gain liberty and to sustain it.

Our forefathers fought for freedom. They carried their flintlock rifles, with fixed bayonets, in order to gain that freedom.

In subsequent wars all over the world men have carried their rifles with fixed bayonets; they have fought on every sea; they have battled in the air; and they have gone under water in order to protect those freedoms.

Regardless of the brutal hand of the Reds in Korea, this is no time for hysteria in the United States.
We must not be dismayed. We must tighten our belts and work and fight harder.

We must have courageous leadership. We must have willing discipline. We must move forward with our flags flying.

The American Flag in this crisis must be the banner of 100 per cent freedom of the individual. It must be 100 per cent for tolerance and 100 per cent against bigotry. It is the flag of 100 per cent American-ism.

We will welcome the flags of all nations, who believe in God, in individual freedom, and tolerance.

All those flags can wave gloriously together, symbolizing faith in our ideals, faith in ourselves and faith in our God. With these ideals in our hearts we will come forth victorious.

It costs you money every time you don't read Want Ads in The Courier.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By JOE ELBERSON

Ready for distribution . . . on September 6th the pheasants being raised for the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs by inmates of the Eastern State Prison will be distributed to participating clubs of the County unit.

There will be approximately 14 birds per club, and each club is asked to have its representatives at the project at 10 o'clock in the morning with crates for transporting the birds.

Still producing . . . nice-sized bass are still being taken by anglers at Maple Beach. This area, which at one time was regarded as one of the finest fishing spots in eastern Pennsylvania, then later was polluted and forgotten, now appears to be making a real comeback as a good bass fishing spot.

About snappers . . . Game Protector John Lohmann, Milford, reports, "I killed an 18 and a 20 pound snapping turtle last month. It is my belief that a great number of young ducks, muskrats and marsh birds fall prey to these voracious reptiles."

"I watched one turtle that lay on the bank of a slough, its moss-covered shell resembling a moss-covered stone. A redwing blackbird flew close. The turtle's head shot out from under the shell and its jaws barely missed closing on the intended meal. On another occasion a farmer who had been losing ducklings mysteriously found the cause to be a large snapper in his weed-choked pond."

Large-scale operations . . . few people realize the time, effort, equipment and money required to provide and improve the essentials for wildlife of the Keystone State.

Each year it is necessary to maintain 850,000 acres of State-owned Game Lands including servicing over 3,500 miles of boundary, 865 miles of roads, 605 miles of fire trails, and 156,400 acres of refuges, propagation areas and special preserves.

In order that food and cover development work on the one and three-quarter million acres of land owned and leased by the Game Commission may be carried on efficiently, roads, buildings and other items must be built and maintained.

In the Commission's last fiscal year, 70 miles of roads were constructed, primarily to permit access to areas where food and cover for wildlife are being established or maintained, and over 4 miles of new fire trails and 43 miles of new refuge lines were cut. To furnish housing for equipment and machinery, 11 storage sheds were constructed. Fourteen additional corn cribs were built to provide storage handy to distribution points and Commission-owned dwellings, storage sheds and corn cribs were kept in repair.

Delay . . . Albert M. Day, director of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, announced that notice of this year's waterfowl hunting seasons and bag limits will be delayed to allow additional time to receive last minute information from continental breeding grounds. The dates and limits are usually announced about August 1st.

"If the later information indicates a decline in the crop of wild ducks and geese," Day said, "the regulations can be altered to hold the line. If the news is good, the sportsmen can be given the benefit by a lessening of the restrictions, either in the bag limit or length of season."

Foxes make headlines . . . through the ages, in fact and fable, foxes have provided many a story because of their sly tricks and colorful antics.

In recent years a wild fox upset the Capitol decorum at Harrisburg by appearing in shrubbery on "the hill". In New York one appeared in mid-city. Last season a Greene County hunter declared that after he brought down a squirrel a red fox pounced on it and made off with the lot before his eyes. Recently, the Beaver Valley Times reported a foursome playing golf at the County Club saw a red fox pick up the ball being played by one of the men and run away with it.

But the July 24th Lancaster New Era carried a different kind of a fox story, one about a hapless Reynard, that will be aired in court. The New Era report says that an Elizabethtown woman has sued a man residing in that town for $1200 on the charge of "deliberately and wilfully" shooting, of all things, a pet red fox the plaintiff had chained outside her home!

MANHATTAN LOSES TO 3M SOFTBALL TEAM; SCORE, 10-2

The 3M's softball team scored all its runs in two innings to trim the Manhattan Soap aggregation, 10-2, in a Bristol Industrial League fracas last evening on the Hunter-Wilson diamond.

The scotch-tape makers scored six times in the fourth and four in the fifth. Until then it was a scoreless ball game.

"Griff" Butler, the 3M's moundman, gave the soap-makers six hits while the winners had 14 off "Willie" Salerno.

St. Ann's Loses, 6 to 1; Lead Down to One Game

TRENTON, Aug. 11—West Trenton reduced the St. Ann's A. A. lead on first place in the Trenton Industrial League to one game last evening as it took the measure of the "Saints," 6-1.

Art Green started on the hill for St. Ann's and was replaced by "Rabbit" Palumbo in the fourth. Palumbo gave up but one hit in relief.

Manager Scordia used a make-shift lineup with "Lou" Sassi behind the plate, Joe Elmer at third, Joe Cialella in the infield, and Paul Brock, Paul Leighton, and Dave Muth in the outfield.

CROYDON TAKES LEAD IN PLAYOFF SERIES OF GAMES

Croydon A. C. took the lead in its playoff series with the Newportville Redskins last evening by beating the Newporters, 10-5, on the Third Ward field. Croydon and Harman have both won a game in the playoff contests.

Croydon amassed an early lead and had a 10-2 lead until the Redskins counted three times in the seventh. But Parker ended the rally by grounding out with a runner on second.

"Jim" Morrell was the Croydon twirler. He allowed five hits with Weaver and J. Schade having two each. "Eddie" Oliver pitched for Newportville and was nipped for 14 hits. Three of these went to Struble.

The usually heavy-hitting "Bill" Moll, of Croydon, was held hitless in four trips, he popping up three times and grounding out on his fourth appearance.

JEFFERSON HITS HARD TO DEFEAT FIFTH WARD

Jefferson A. C. hit hard in the clutches last evening to beat out the Fifth Ward Sporting Club, 8-1, in a Bristol Suburban Softball League contest on Memorial Park field. The victory enabled the Jefferson A. C. contingent to remain in the race for first place.

Jefferson had but six hits in the tilt but took advantage of seven passes to help swell their total of markers. "Johnny" Clambelli, in the meantime, was holding the Warders in check. He allowed but five safe blows, three coming in the last two innings.

The losers had seven runners stranded, six in their last three turns with the stick. In the first three innings only nine batters faced Clambelli.

"Pete" Volpe started on the hill for the Warders and gave way to Paul Palillo in the fifth canto.
